Summary

I specialize in JavaScript, TypeScript, React, and Next.js, and have led projects across startups, consultancies, and global teams. I focus on writing clean, maintainable code, designing intuitive user experiences, and delivering features with real business impact. I've worked as a consultant embedded in client teams, driving technical strategy and shipping production-grade apps. I enjoy solving complex frontend problems, mentoring other developers, and contributing to open-source when possible.

Experience
